

Ready to improve the use of technology?

The better utilization of technology, software and people will improve your bottom line. Unfortunately, many business owners and managers don't know how to pull all these pieces together.

Do any of these sound familiar?

- We are not using our current software the way it was sold to us or as we intended to use it.
- We don't think our current systems and software fit the needs of our business anymore.
- Too many company resources are being used to manage our systems/software.
- We are constantly adding staff to complete tasks or maintain data and reporting that should be accomplished by technology or a software solution.
- I am not confident I am making business decisions on current and accurate information.

These are just a few examples of problems you may have because you are not getting useful information out of your technology. Have a look inside to understand how we can help you pull it together.

Useful information.
Knowledgeable decisions.

Pulling it together

Requirements definition and analysis

Many business owners know what they want out of technology at a high level but find it difficult to put the detailed requirements into a format that clearly states what is needed. We work with you to pull together business needs and process flow and help match that up to the proper software solution. Also, through this analysis we can help identify ways to use technology to streamline your business processes.

Project management

Do you have software you don't use to its potential? Are you implementing a new one with no idea where to start? We help businesses with implementing software solutions currently functioning within your business even if we didn't provide the product! We can act as your software advocate to make sure your vendor understands your business needs and provides the best solution. We know what questions to ask to help you optimize your software solution.

Customization and reporting

Get the most out of your system with customization and reporting. We can tweak a program to fit a particular business process, custom program a completely new process, or perform data mining and personalized reporting to help you make informed decisions. Our programmers and consultants will personalize your system to give you the right information you need when you need it.

Software solutions

Your current system may be inefficient or out of date. Maybe you don't have an automated system in place at all. Software is not an end-all answer to your problems, but the right software and training create the perfect tool to help manage your accounting, manufacturing, retail, customer relationship management or human resource needs.

We provide small to medium-size business solutions by industry-leading partners such as Intuit® and Sage Software. Personalized implementation plans set your company up with turnkey solutions customized to fit your business process, flow and procedure. Our knowledgeable staff takes the time to understand your needs, focuses setup and training on ensuring those needs are met, and introduces new ideas to streamline your current procedures and business flow.

Continued support

After your project is complete, you will receive outstanding service from our knowledgeable support staff. Our staff shares support duties allowing you to draw from many years of experience. For your convenience, we have many tools for support including an internal knowledgebase, access to software reps via phone, fax, e-mail and direct connections to your office or PC. You will be understood, and your issues will be resolved quickly so you can get back to your day.
